We were stationed on the Isle of Wight and were told to get our gear ready everything, bla-bla-bla. We was taken down to the water's edge, some landing craft come from a ship to pick us up and I said to a sailor, 'Bloody exercise', he says, 'It's the real thing'. Because being on a ship he couldn't get off and tell anyone so they were briefed. We weren't briefed, we weren't briefed till we got on the ship, where we were going and what's gonna happen and that's it.
